

Design out the box

Modular

Context: Products which are designed for self assembly are popular for many reasons and help to keep costs as low as possible. An international furniture warehouse chain is constantly on the look-out for fresh ideas for their furniture and lighting sections. They are particularly interested in modular designs which allow the customer to assemble the products in a variety of ways.

Task

A major high street retailer wishes to market a range of modular products from tables, lamps, & bedroom furniture.

Research modular products and design a range of modular products. If time allows transfer your designs onto CAD (computer aided design)
